THE [Numb. 843.]

MARYLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the lateſt Advices foreign and domeſtic.

THURSDAY, July 2, 1761.

LONDON, March 3.

YESTERDAY Theodore Gardelle, a Frenchman, was re-examined before John Fielding, Paul Valiant and Theodore Sydenham, Eſqrs. at Mr. Fielding's Houſe, touching the wilful Murder of Mrs. Anne King, late of Leiceſter Square, in whoſe Houſe the ſaid Gardelle was a Lodger, when during an Examination of many Hours, the ſaid Gardelle perſiſted in denying the Fact with the moſt invincible Obſtinacy; but Mr. Fielding having prior to the Examination, ſent Officers with a Carpenter and Bricklayer to the Houſe of the deceaſed, with Orders to examine every Part of it in order to find the Body; after ſome Time, received a Meſſenger from them acquainting him that they had found the Entrails of the Body in the Boghouſe; which Meſſage being delivered in the Preſence of the Priſoner, ſoon occaſioned his making a partial Confeſſion of the horrid Crime, which was afterwards made in the fulleſt Manner on Warrants being iſſued againſt two of his Accomplices, who ſince appeared to be very innocent, and to the following Purport, viz. That on Thurſday the 19th of February laſt, about ſeven in the Morning, he, Gardelle, having ſent Mrs. King's Maid of a Meſſage, and her Miſtreſs not being up, he agreed to wait in the Front Parlour till the Servant's return, in order to anſwer the Street Door; that Mrs. King lodged upon the ſame Floor, and the Maid's Abſence was getting up and ſpoke to the Priſoner, whereupon he ruſhed into the Room, and attempted to force the Deceaſed, ſo that ſhe ſtruck him, whereupon he gave her a violent Blow, which ſtunn'd her by falling againſt the Bed Poſt; that ſeeing her thus injured, he took a Knife out of his Pocket and cut her Throat, then locked up the Room, and the ſame Day artfully diſcharged the Maid of the deceaſed without a Diſcovery, by which he got Poſſeſſion of the whole Houſe; he then diſſected the Body, and divided it into many parts; that he ſlung the Entrails down the Neceſſary, together with the Knife with which he committed the Murder; that he then made a Fire in the Garret, and there burnt the Head and moſt of her Bones to Aſhes, and concealed the Fleſh at the Top of the Houſe, between the Tiles and Roof, all which were found

The ſaid Gardelle is by Trade an Enamel Painter, and in the Courſe of the Examination, it appeared that he had robbed Mrs. King of a Gold Watch, two Diamond Rings, and about ten Guineas in Money, which he having lodged in the Hands of honeſt Perſons, they produced them as Evidences againſt him. It is ſaid he has a Wife and two Children now in Paris. He is in the Cells of Newgate, chained down to the Floor, and one of the Turnkeys is to ſit up with him every Night to prevent his deſtroying himſelf.

Gardelle, the horrid Aſſaſſin now in Newgate for the Murder of Mrs. King, has confeſſed his taking her Watch, but gives an odd Turn to that Circumſtance; he ſays his Reaſon for doing ſo was, in order to countenance the Report he had ſpread of her being gone abroad for ſome Days. He frankly owns the Murder, with all the dreadful Circumſtances that followed it, but appears unwilling to confeſs any Deſign of Theft. Strange! that a Man, who could calmly and deliberately go through an Operation upon a Body of a Woman he had juſt murdered, ſhould have ſuch miſtaken Notions of Delicacy as to be aſhamed of Theft. The Fact, with all its Circumſtances conſidered, is, perhaps, the moſt foul that ever diſgraced the Annals of Britain, who, it is hoped, will never give Birth to ſuch a Monſter. The too common Plea of Liquor, or a diſordered Mind, is not ſo much pleaded; the horrid Deed was committed in the Morning as the unhappy Woman was riſing from her Bed, and but half dreſſed; the Plea of Paſſion might have ſome Claim to Pity, did not the ſubſequent, calm, deliberate Scene of Villainy bar the Gates of it; the Wretch is neither a Frenchmen nor a Genoeſe, but was born in the City of Geneva, well known for its Situation on the Lake Leman, near the Foot of the Alps; he is, as all the Natives of that City are, a Proteſtant, and is attended by a French Clergyman of that Perſuaſion.

March 14. Gardelle, now in Confinement for the Murder of Mrs. King, being, it is ſaid, aſked why he did not attempt making his Eſcape, after committing that ſhocking Fact, as he had ſo fair an Opportunity? anſwered, that he had often attempted it, but conſtantly imagined himſelf ſtopped at the Door by ſomebody holding him by the Collar of his Coat.

April 23. The Captain of the King George Packet ſpoke with the Blond Man of War off the Bar, who had taken the Grand Cyprus Privateer of Bayonne, of 18 Guns and 180 Men. The Packet was chaſed by a Privateer for ſeveral Hours.

Yeſterday Advice was received that a French Privateer of 22 Guns was taken off Flamborough-Head by the Acteon Frigate.

BOSTON, June 15.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in London, dated April 11, 1761.

"When a Congreſs was propoſed ſome Days ago, Mr. Pitt declared he would not enter on the Subject, till the French firſt agreed to give up all Pretenſions to Canada and the Fiſhery: And by the Mail To-day, I am informed, they have agreed to the former, but ſtruggle to keep the latter.

"Lord Cheſterfield died this Morning."

We hear from Newport, Rhode-Iſland, that laſt Week, two French Dutch Prizes were ſent in there, one taken by Captain Sweet, in a Privateer belonging to that Place, viz. a Sloop bound from Old France to the Cape, laden with dry Goods, Wine, &c.—The other a large Sloop, bound from the Cape, laden with Sugar, Coffee and Indigo, taken by Capt. Hanſen, in a Privateer belonging to the Weſt-Indies, after a ſmart Engagement, in which ſeveral were killed on both Sides; Captain Hanſen had alſo taken two other Prizes from the ſame Place, and ſent them to New-York.

Friday Night laſt ſeveral Officers and Merchants came to Town from Portſmouth, at which Place they arrived laſt Week in eight Days from Halifax, by whom we learn, that all the Men of War, except two, were ſailed from Halifax for the River St. Lawrence.

Yeſterday an Officer came to Town in 20 Days from Montreal, who informs that all is well in that Quarter.

Laſt Tueſday Evening, one Jeremiah Dexter, of Walpole, a Trader, was detected in offering falſe and counterfeit Dollars in this Town; and being apprehended and examined, there were found upon him five of them, caſt in a Mould; they were made of Pewter, or ſome baſe Metal, and want near three Pennyweight of the Weight of the genuine Ones.——He at firſt made very weak and evaſive Anſwers to excuſe himſelf; but being committed to Priſon, he confeſſed next Morning with Tears, that they were of his own making, and that he made no more than thoſe five; and ſaid that he had no Accomplices. But we hear he has ſince accuſed one of being concerned with him, after whom a Warrant is iſſued.

The ſame Day Capt. Bartlett arrived at Marblehead from the Weſt-Indies: On his Paſſage, near the Latitude of Bermuda, he was taken by a French Privateer, and ranſomed his Veſſel for 3000 Dollars.

NEW-YORK, June 22.

Laſt Sunday Week ſailed from the Hook, on a Cruize, his Majeſty's Ship Penzance, Capt. Boyd: We hear ſhe is to return to this Port again in Auguſt.

Wedneſday a Schooner arrived here in about five Weeks from Teneriffe, by whom we learn, that the Engliſh Fleet there, having taken in their Lading of Wines, was ready to ſail the firſt fair Wind.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.

Laſt Night Captain Mitchell arrived here in ſix Weeks from Londonderry, by whom we have London Advices to the 30*th of April; but, for Want of Time and Room, we can only inſert this Week what follows, viz.*

From the London Gazette Extraordinary.

Whitehall, April 30, 1761.

This Morning the Honourable Captain Barrington, Commander of his Majeſty's Ship Achilles, arrived with the following Letters from Major General Hodgſon, and the Honourable Commodore Keppel, to the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Pitt.

Belleiſle, 4 o'Clock in the Morning, April 23, 1761.

AS I have juſt had a Note from Commodore Keppel, to inform me that a Frigate will ſail this Day for England, I have only Time to acquaint you, that his Majeſty's Troops under my Command, landed Yeſterday at Five: The Enemy's Attention was ſo diſtracted with our Attempts of landing at different Places, where there was the leaſt Appearance of our being able to ſucceed, that it gave Brigadier Lambert an Opportunity of climbing up a Rock, with a Corps I had left with him for that Purpoſe, if practicable: The Difficulty of mounting had made the Enemy leaſt attentive to that Part.——Beauclerk's Grenadiers, with their Captain Patterſon, got up before they ſaw what was intended. They immediately marched a Body of 300 Men to attack him. The Grenadiers maintained their Ground till the reſt of Brigadier Lambert's got up. We took three Braſs Field Pieces, and ſome wounded Priſoners. It is impoſſible for me ſufficiently to commend Mr. Lambert's Conduct and gallant Behaviour on the Occaſion; and take the Liberty to beg you will recommend him to the King, as an Officer deſerving his Majeſty's Favour. Captain Patterſon has loſt his Arm. I believe our Loſs is not above 30 killed. I am afraid you will not be able to read this Scrawl, as I write it in the Field, the Troops being on their March.

I am, &c. S. HODGSON.

Valiant, in the great Road of Belleiſle, April 23.

SIR,

I HAD the Honour to write you a Letter by the Acteon Frigate, in which I gave but little Hopes; ſince which Time, the General and myſelf having conſidered, that by attempting a Place where the Mounting the Rocks was juſt poſſible, and where the Enemy were no other ways prepared, from the impracticable Appearance it had to them, than by a Corps of Troops to annoy the Boats in the Attempt, that it carried ſome Degree of Hopes with it, and by making a Diſpoſition for the Attack of their intrenched Bays, and at Sauzon at the ſame Time, which the Arrival of the Tranſports with the Light Horſe enabled me to do, we might poſſibly gain a Footing.

I have now the greateſt Pleaſure in acquainting you, that his Majeſty's Troops have made good a Landing on the Rocks near Point Lomaria; and cannot ſufficiently commend the Spirit and good Behaviour of the Troops in the Attempt; and the Judgment, with which Sir Thomas Stanhope, and the reſt of the Captains of the King's Ships, directed their Fire upon the Hills.

Captain Barrington having been employed in many of the Operations on this Service, I have ſent him Home with this Letter; and beg, Sir, to refer you to him for the Particulars. I have the Honour to be, &c. A. KEPPEL.

N. B. The Acteon Frigate, mentioned in the Beginning of the Letter, is not yet arrived.

A LIST of Officers and Seamen killed, wounded and miſſing, at the Attack on Belleiſle, the 8th of April, 1761.

Valiant, 1 Midſhipman, 8 Seamen, killed; Lieut. Gregory, 2 Midſhipmen, and 20 Seamen, wounded; 1 Midſhipman, and 18 Seamen, miſſing.

Veſuvius. 5 Seamen killed; 7 Ditto wounded.

Ætna. Lieut. Jarratt killed. A. KEPPEL.

Whitehall, April 24. His Majeſty was this Day pleaſed to name the Right Hon. Charles Wyndham, Earl of Egremont; the Right Hon. David Lord Viſcount Stormont, His Majeſty's Envoy Extraordinary to the King and Republick of Poland; and the Hon. Lieut. Gen. Sir Joſeph Yorke, Knight of the moſt Hon. Order of the Bath, His Majeſty's Miniſter Plenipotentiary to their High Mightineſſes the States General of the United Provinces; His Miniſters Plenipotentiary at the Congreſs which is ſoon to be opened at the Imperial City of Augſbourg.

His moſt Chriſtian Majeſty has made Choice of the Count of Choiſeul, at preſent his Ambaſſador at the Court of Vienna, to be his Miniſter Plenipotentiary at the ſaid Congreſs.

The King of Pruſſia has named Baron Plotho, at preſent his Miniſter at the Diet at Ratiſbon, and M. Haiſler, his Miniſters Plenipotentiary at the ſaid Congreſs.

LONDON, April 30.

By AUTHORITY, we can aſſure the Public, That Belleiſle is actually taken; and that immediately on the Arrival of the Reinforcements, Colonel Crawford, in Conjunction with the Gentlemen abovementioned, made a briſk Attack upon the Citadel, on which the French ſurrendered.

We hear that two Perſons of Diſtinction are named to be reciprocally ſent by the Britiſh and French Courts, to facilitate the Negociations for accompliſhing the great and ſalutary Work of PEACE.

The principal Matters to be inſiſted on by our Plenipotentiaries, it is ſaid, are theſe; that Guadaloupe, with America, be ceded to us; that no Satisfaction be given to the French for any Ships taken previous to the Declaration of War; that no Suſpenſion of Arms ſhall take Place during the Sitting of the Congreſs; that the giving up the Iſland of Minorca ſhall not be looked upon or taken as an Equivalent for the Iſlands of Senegal and Goree; and that this Congreſs may continue three Calendar Months, from the Day of their firſt Meeting.

Three Negroes were lately Condemned in Calvert County, for murdering Mrs. Smith, their Miſtreſs, by Poiſon, ſome Years ago; but by ſome Miſtake in the Jury Proceedings, it ſeems they are to have another Trial.
